Stay up to date

This guidance will be updated if anything changes to how you get state healthcare in Switzerland.

This information is about living in Switzerland. There's different guidance if you're visiting Switzerland. (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/uk-residents-visiting-the-eueea-and-switzerland-healthcare>)

If you started living in Switzerland before 1 January 2021, your rights to access healthcare in Switzerland will stay the same for as long as you remain resident.

This guidance explains what you need to do in Switzerland depending on your circumstances.

You must have health insurance cover to live in Switzerland. You may still have to pay to use some parts of the healthcare system.

UK nationals usually access the Swiss health system in one of these ways:

- buying mandatory health insurance
- registering a UK-issued S1 form with Switzerland's central health insurance institution ('Gemeinsame Einrichtung KVG')

Healthcare if you live and work in Switzerland

Everyone who lives in Switzerland must:

- register as a resident (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/living-in-switzerland>)
- get health insurance

You choose your insurance provider from a list of government-approved providers. The Federal Office of Public Health (<https://www.bag.admin.ch/bag/en/home.html>) has more detailed information, including the list of insurers.

You'll receive a health insurance card once you register.

Once you're a resident you may also be entitled to a Swiss European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) for travel.

If you were living in Switzerland before 1 January 2021

If you started living in Switzerland before 1 January 2021, your rights to access healthcare in Switzerland will stay the same for as long as you remain resident.

This means you may also be entitled to:

- a Swiss EHIC for travel, including visits to the UK
- a UK S1 if you start drawing a UK State Pension

How much you'll pay

Even with insurance, you'll probably still have to pay some costs. For example, most people will have to pay:

- the first 300 Swiss francs towards your treatment per year – this is the 'deductible' or 'franchise' and can be higher or lower depending on your insurance premium
- 10% of your treatment costs over the deductible, up to a maximum of 700 Swiss francs (or 350 Swiss francs if you're under 18 years old)

- a daily fee if you stay in hospital – this is around 15 Swiss francs

You do not have to pay a ‘deductible’ or daily hospital fees if you’re:

- under 18 years old
- under 25 years old and in education or training
- a woman receiving maternity services

If your UK employer has sent you to Switzerland temporarily (‘posted workers’)

A posted worker, also known as a ‘detached worker’, is someone employed or self-employed in the UK, but temporarily sent to a European Economic Area (EEA) country.

Healthcare for posted workers who started before 1 January 2021

You can access healthcare in Switzerland using an EHC or registered S1 form.

Healthcare for posted workers moving to Switzerland

You may need to:

- join a local healthcare scheme
- cover the cost of your healthcare with private health insurance

HMRC has a helpline for National Insurance enquiries from non-UK residents

(<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/hm-revenue-customs/contact/national-insurance-enquiries-for-non-uk-residents>). They can answer questions about posted worker status and explain which documents you will need to get healthcare while posted.

UK-funded healthcare: getting and using an S1 form in Switzerland

There’s different guidance if you have an S1 as a posted worker.

If you started living in Switzerland before 1 January 2021, you may be entitled to state healthcare paid for by the UK if you’re a Swiss resident (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/living-in-switzerland>) and receive either:

- a UK State Pension
- some other ‘exportable benefits’

Not all UK benefits that can be claimed while abroad entitle you to UK-funded healthcare. Read more about claiming benefits if you move abroad (<https://www.gov.uk/claim-benefits-abroad/where-you-can-claim-benefits>) or contact Jobcentre Plus (<https://www.gov.uk/contact-jobcentre-plus>) to ask about a benefit.

You may also be entitled to an S1 form if you’re a frontier worker (someone who works in one state and lives in another). You must contact HMRC National Insurance enquiries

(<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/hm-revenue-customs/contact/national-insurance-enquiries-for-non-uk-residents>) to find out if you’re eligible.

Once you have an S1 form, you must register it on the Swiss system.

This will mean you and your dependants will be entitled to healthcare in Switzerland on the same basis as a Swiss citizen.

You'll also get:

- a UK-issued EHIC (<https://www.nhs.uk/using-the-nhs/healthcare-abroad/apply-for-a-free-uk-global-health-insurance-card-ghic/>) for travel
- planned treatments (<https://www.nhs.uk/using-the-nhs/healthcare-abroad/going-abroad-for-treatment/what-is-the-s2-route/>) in the EEA

Dependants and family members may be classified differently in Switzerland than the UK.

Check with the local authorities when you register your S1 form.

How to get an S1 form

You must request an application form by phone from NHS Overseas Healthcare Services.

NHS Overseas Healthcare Services
Telephone: +44 (0)191 218 1999
Monday to Friday, 8am to 6pm
Saturday, 9am to 3pm

How to use an S1 form in Switzerland

You must register your S1 form with Switzerland's central health insurance institution ('Gemeinsame Einrichtung KVG'). Find out more about registering your S1 form (https://www.kvg.org/en/domicile-in-switzerland-\_content---1--1077.html).

Once you've registered, you'll receive an insurance card. This will mean you're entitled to healthcare on the same basis as a Swiss citizen.

Show this card when you visit a doctor to prove you are entitled to healthcare. Check that the doctor you visit treats S1 holders.

Studying in Switzerland

If you were already in Switzerland before 1 January 2021 because you study there, you need to apply for a new UK-issued EHIC (<https://www.nhs.uk/ehic/>).

Your EHIC entitles you to medically necessary healthcare until the end of your study period in Switzerland.

Students moving to Switzerland

You cannot use a UK-issued EHIC or Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC) to get healthcare in Switzerland.

You should either:

- take out private travel insurance with healthcare coverage

- register as a resident (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/living-in-switzerland>) to get state health insurance and pay a student rate

Speak to your university for further advice.

Getting treatment in the UK

Some former UK residents do not have to pay for NHS treatment when visiting England. This includes UK nationals who started living in Switzerland before 1 January 2021.

Read more about healthcare when you no longer live in the UK (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/healthcare-for-eu-and-efta-citizens-visiting-the-uk#uk-nationals-who-no-longer-live-in-the-uk>).

If you return to live in the UK you'll be able to use the NHS like any other UK resident.

Read more about using the NHS when you return to live in the UK (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/using-the-nhs-when-you-return-to-live-in-the-uk>).
